QUALIFICATIONS

Software engineer looking for a Jr. Front End Develop position to further my career. I got into a coding bootcamp through Columbia University after speaking to a friend during the Covid pandemic. I learned both front end and backend coding, along with everything in between. I have successfully completed the class and graduated in March 2022. I have enjoyed coding since the start of the bootcamp with the challenges it brings as well as the constant updates and changes to JavaScript and other platforms keep it fun and interesting, making every day different.
